PROCEEDINGS OF THE CITY BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Spring Valley Water Company Must Com- mence to Lower Main in San Bruno Road, As It Agreed To.

The city board of trustees met in regular session in the city hall last Monday night.

J. J. Welch presented an application for a Class D liquor license, with Joe Kennel and A. Wilbur as bondsmen. The bond, not having been sworn to before a notary public, was returned to Mr. Welch to be attended to. The application will be acted upon at the next meeting.

P. Pala was given permission to place four posts at the Division street side of his property to support the second story of his hotel building, upon motion of Trustee Cunningham, seconded by Trustee Hickey.

A communication was received from W. B. Lawrence of the Spring Valley Water Company asking that the board change the date in a resolution adopted several weeks ago, in reference to the work of lowering the water main in San Bruno road, from September 1, 1911, to April 1, 1912. The communication stated that on account of the rainy season soon coming on and the demand for water in San Francisco, the company could not start the work this fall.

After some discussion by members of the board, and upon motion of Trustee Hickey, seconded by Trustee McGovern, Clerk Smith was instructed to communicate with Mr. Lawrence and firmly tell him that his company must start the work immediately as it had agreed to, as the board would not countenance any further delay.

A communication was received from Geo. H. Chapman, secretary of the South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company, stating that at a meeting of the board of directors of that company it was decided that the city could have any land in the unplatted portion of the city for public park purposes for $1000 per acre.

Upon motion of Trustee Cunningham, seconded by Trustee Hickey, the communication was accepted, ordered filed and Clerk Smith instructed to acknowledge its receipt.

The board then decided that its members in company with City Engineer Kneese would pick out a piece of land about ten acres in size next Wednesday, October 11th, at 10 a. m.

Upon motion of Trustee Hickey, seconded by Trustee Healy, Contractor Rilovich was given sixty days' extension of time in which to complete the work of laying curbs and sidewalks on the east side of San Bruno road, provided his bondsmen will consent.

A communication was received from the State Board of Health asking that a representative from this city be sent to a health conference to be held in Santa Barbara at the time of the convention of the California League of Municipalities.

Upon motion of Trustee McGovern, seconded by Trustee Healy, Daniel McSweeney, president of the board, was selected as the representative from this city to attend the conference.

A communication was received from the Barber Asphalt Paving Co. asking the board to inspect some of the work it was doing at Burlingame and San Mateo.

Upon motion of Trustee McGovern, seconded by Trustee Healy, the communication was accepted and ordered filed.

Upon motion of Trustee Hickey, seconded by Trustee Hickey, the position of poundmaster, held by A. G. Bissett, was declared vacant.

Upon motion of Trustee Healy, seconded by Trustee McGovern, J. J. Welch was appointed poundmaster, with instructions to do active work in taking up stock, especially goats and dogs, about which many complaints had been made.

A lot near the Sierra Point House was designated as the official pound.

City Clerk Smith presented his report of the financial condition of the city, which follows: Balance cash on hand September 1, 1911, $223.65. Receipts during September—Recorder's court, $60; dog licenses, $3; city taxes, $255.75; redemption of real estate, $5.62. Total, $324.37. Grand total, $548.03. Expenditures, as per warrants drawn, $195. Balance cash on hand October 1, 1911, $353.03.

The marshal and treasurer's reports were the same as the clerk's.

Several back claims were allowed.

ROBERT J. CARROLL'S DEATH INVESTIGATED

The coroner's inquest called to investigate the death of Constable Robt. J. Carroll early Tuesday morning, September 26th, while confined in the county jail at Redwood City, on a charge of disturbing the peace, was continued in the city hall in this city last Monday afternoon.

Carl Curtis, a prisoner, was the first witness called. He said Carroll the night before he died (Monday) was evidently out of his mind, as he had done several foolish things and had made considerable noise. His (Curtis') cell was across the corridor from Carroll's and he could hear what was going on. He could hear Carroll rushing against the walls of his cell which would shake the building like an earthquake. At about 12 o'clock Monday night when Deputy Sheriff Gregory came into the jail he (Curtis) signalled to him by tapping on the side of his cell. Gregory wanted to know what was the matter and he told him he thought it was all off with Carroll. He heard Gregory go to Carroll's cell and point his flashlight through the wicket. Gregory then telephoned to Dr. Taggart and Sheriff Mansfield. The doctor and sheriff's son came to the jail in a short time. He heard them carry Carroll into the front room of the jail. The doctor said Carroll could not live long as he had injured his head. When the electric light was turned on in the corridor he had seen blood on Carroll's forehead and face.

HALF-FARE TICKETS MAY BE ISSUED IN COUNTY SHORTLY

Development Association Board of Gov- ernors Hold an Important Meeting in San Mateo.

Half-fare tickets on the United Railroads lines for all children of the county, eighteen years of age and under, promises to be a reality shortly.

They have not been gained yet, but as a result of recent conferences which have been held by the boosters with General Manager Black of the United Railroads it is believed that the half-fare tickets will be issued shortly.

General Manager Black has expressed himself as in favor of their use in this county and the sale of such tickets will mean a large yearly saving for the district between San Mateo and the county line. The original half-fare tickets, granting of which had been sought unsuccessfully for years by various organizations until the boosters took the matter up, were limited to the school children only, their use being withdrawn after a few weeks following a decision of the railroad commission that the limitation imposed was discriminatory between persons.

That setback now promises to be gilded over with greater profits. Under the tentative plan that has been discussed the issuance of ticket books, good during the calendar months will probably be used. It is probable that the use of these tickets will follow the practice of the railways of Los Angeles. The use of the tickets will be limited to certain hours and will not be good for passage on certain designated holidays. According to the investigations made by a local newspaper at the time that the former half-fare tickets were in use, they probably meant a saving of $300 a month to the people of this district. If these figures were even approximately correct, the granting of half-fares not limited to school children will, if it is achieved, certainly mean a large yearly saving to the people of San Mateo county.

A number of enthusiastic boosters for good roads from the coast side, including Supervisors Joseph M. Francis, Dr. C. L. Morgan, Alvin Hatch of Half Moon Bay, M. B. Johnson of Montara, Theo. T. Johnson of Farallone City, were present at the board of governors meeting in San Mateo on Tuesday night. They asked for the endorsement of the development association in the efforts of the Coast Side Promotion Association for a boulevard from Half Moon Bay north and in the discussion that followed the need of the county for good roads was most thoroughly threshed out. As a result it is planned to hold a conference as soon as possible between a committee from the coast side organization, one from the development association and the board of supervisors for the purpose of discussing the county's needs in the road line and the feasibility of bonding the county for a large sum to build some high-ways and connecting laterals.

Half Moon Bay will be a generous host to the boosters to-night when a mass meeting will be held at Pillar Hall, for which the coast side promises to turn out en masse.

acting so badly. He was hunting for an insane man who had escaped from a sanitarium at Belmont, and did not get back to the jail until about 12 o'clock. He corroborated Curtis' testimony as to how he found Carroll. Carroll was unconscious and he telephoned to the doctor and sheriff. He also telephoned to Dr. Plymire and told him Carroll was going to die, and at about 6 o'clock Tuesday morning he telephoned to Dr. Plymire that Carroll was dead and to inform Mrs. Carroll. On a direct question being asked Gregory as to whether he had struck Carroll, he said he had not. He had always treated prisoners in the jail with kindness.

Sheriff J. H. Mansfield testified that Carroll had been given medicine and an occasional drink of whiskey to help improve his condition. There was no padded cell at the county jail. He had at different times asked the supervisors to provide one without success. With the present force of deputies provided (two) it was impossible for one to be at the jail all the time.

Mrs. Carroll testified that her husband had threatened her life before he was taken to the county jail. He had been drinking heavily. Several other witnesses gave testimony on hearsay stories about Carroll being struck on the head by Deputy Sheriff Gregory, developing no evidence as a foundation for such stories.

Coroner H. G. Plymire, District Attorney Franklin Swart and members of the jury questioned the witnesses.

The jury brought in the following verdict: "That said deceased came to his death by concussion of the brain caused by coming in contact with some foreign substance while being in a temporary demented condition while confined in the county jail of San Mateo county, California."

The jury also prepared a recommendation to be sent to the county board of supervisors to provide a padded cell at the county jail.

FOUNDERS OF THE CITY OF SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

THE SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO LAND AND IMPROVEMENT COMPANY designed in its original plan to make of South San Francisco a great manufacturing center. With that object in view, it originally purchased 3500 acres of land in San Mateo County, on the bay front, five miles south of the City of San Francisco. Since the original purchase, the company has added greatly to its holdings by the purchase of large tracts of adjoining lands, giving to it a perfect environment for the complete development of a great manufacturing city.

The faith which this Company had in its enterprise has been manifest to everyone by the large expenditure it has made in the development of this property. Every foundation which goes to make a perfect condition for manufacture has been already solidly installed, and is a rapidly growing city; it is a railroad terminal; it is on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and accessible to all railroads; has deep water communication; owns and operates for its industries a railroad connecting with the Southern Pacific and the water front; has electric street car service from factory to Town, and direct to San Francisco; has an Electric Light and Power Company; owns an independent Water Works, and has an abundance of fresh water for factory and house; has wharves and docks; a perfect sewerage system; a Bank and a Town Hall; and a population of over 3000 people an extensive and fine residence district, where everyone may secure lands at reasonable prices and on favorable terms, as homes for themselves and their families.

FACTORY SITES

can be obtained from the South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company on most reasonable terms.

The completion of the Bay Shore Tunnels has placed South San Francisco on the main lines of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and forty passenger trains per day connect it with the outside world.

With the completion of the Dumbarton Bridge and Cutoff, now rapidly being constructed, South San Francisco will have all railroads which center in San Francisco passing through its midst.

Many industries are already established here, chief of which are the Western Meat Company, the Wool Pullery, the Soap Works, the Baden Brick Company, Pacific Jupiter Steel Company, the Steiger Pottery Works, the W. P. Fuller White Lead Works, the South San Francisco Lumber and Supply Company, and other enterprises, all of which are in full operation to-day. The American Smelting and Refining Company has purchased over 300 acres of land in South San Francisco for the purpose of erecting a great plant, which they estimate will cost upwards of $5,000,000. The Doak Sheet Steel Company has purchased a large tract of land and has already commenced the construction of a large rolling mill. Other factories have recently made purchases, and South San Francisco is plainly destined to fulfill all that its promoters had hoped.

FRATERNAL ORDERS

Eagleitis is catching. It may be compared to a new microbe which is increasing rapidly. Indications would lead some to think that they were taking possession of the arteries of fraternal life, and thus produce a new standard of living. Anything in the way of public improvement, will find Eagleism back of it. Sunshine is also one of the links in the Eagles' chain. Same as fireworks and starshine. The numerous stars of South San Francisco and San Bruno will no doubt be looked for on Saturday evening, October 14th. They will certainly shine. Their brilliancy by that time will obscure all other bodies, and Metropolitan Hall will be crowded to the limit. October 14th will be a memorable day. Taft in San Francisco will turn the first spadeful of earth in aid of the greatest fair ever planned in all the world's history. It is purely a coincidence, that the greatest show ever given by local stars will take place in South San Francisco on the evening of that date. A great combination, you say. Certainly. The Eagles of South City Aerie, No. 1473, are not slow to grasp the opportunity and they will present the best minstrel talent obtainable. The ladies had better bring smelling salts along. It will be a side splitting affair. You will recognize local hits. Dr. H. G. Plymire will be in attendance to take care of any serious case that may result. John Joseph Welch, an old-time minstrel, will be in charge. Dr. J. C. McGovern will occupy the center of the stage. Next Saturday's Enterprise will contain the program. After the show the dance, an all-night affair. Splendid music is engaged. This event will excel all others ever given here. From start to finish, only 50 cents. Go and have the time of your life.

The Fraternal Brotherhood.

Monday will long be remembered as a red letter day in the history of our organization and every member is proud of the fact of having a class of nineteen candidates for initiation on that eventful night.

Supreme Chaplain Bro. Batchelor, ably assisted by the drill team from Mission Lodge, No. 269, put on the initiatory work in that faultless and impressive manner for which he is so justly noted.

Many visitors from the San Francisco lodges were present and were unanimous in their expressions of praise for the rapid strides being made by the baby lodge of the district.

An address by Bro. Batchelor and short remarks from various visiting members were enjoyed by all and after adjournment an impromptu program, dancing and refreshments enlivened the evening. A very pleasant surprise came in the presentation by Bro. Batchelor of a cut glass bowl each, to Sisters Savage and Ferguson, the gift of the members in acknowledgement of their appreciation for the good work done by the two sisters in promoting the welfare of the society.

Joy, mirth, sociability and happiness reigned supreme and thus another of our popular social evenings drew to a close.

COUNTY NOTES

As a result of a petition which was placed in circulation Saturday asking for the recall of Trustees C. M. Morse, J. J. O'Brien, O. P. Hicks, M. J. Conway and M. J. Powers, comprising all the town trustees of San Mateo, thirty-two business men of the town have sent a letter to the trustees assuring them of their confidence in them. The recall of the officials was demanded on the ground that they are incompetent, negligent and actuated by ulterior motives in the performance of their public duties.

BURBANK TO EXHIBIT CREATIONS

Wizard's Work to Be Viewed at the New York Exposition.

Luther Burbank, breeder of plants and creator of fruits, flowers and vegetables hitherto unknown to the world, has arranged to have the creations of his skill exhibited in New York. This is the first time they will have been shown on the Atlantic seaboard. Burbank is personally supervising the work of assembling the specimens, which will be in care of the California Development Board. They will be shown at the American Land and Irrigation Exposition at Madison Square Garden November 3d to 12th.

A Crushed Statesman.

Martin Regan was a quaint figure in the local politics of Kansas City in the early eighties. In one of the mob primaries in which Martin's nomination as alderman was involved the Regan faction was the more numerous. Regan was elected chairman, and after a short speech thanking the meeting for the honor "on behalf of my friends and myself" he proceeded to ask what was the further business of the meeting. Instantly Jerry Dowd was on his feet to protest against Regan's nomination. "Sit down, Jerry Dowd!" yelled Regan. "You are out of order." "I am not," retorted Dowd, struggling with Regan partisans who were trying to force him down. "Mr. Chairman—Mr. Chairman," he yelled, "I appeal from the decision of the chair!" "Sit down, Jerry Dowd, sit down!" replied the alderman. "It takes two-thirds to appeal from the decision of the chair, and there's not that many here."—Kansas City Star.

"SIT DOWN, JERRY!"

Converting a Skeptic.

David Hume, the famous Scottish philosopher and skeptic, once for a short time involuntarily posed as an out and out Christian, and the story of very temporary conversion to orthodoxy is amusing.

Having fallen into a swamp at the back of Edinburgh castle, he called for assistance to a woman who was passing. At first she took no notice, but presently she asked:

"Are na ye Hume, the atheist?" "Weel, weel, no matter," Hume said. "Christian charity commands you to do good to every one."

"Christian charity here or Christian charity there," the woman said, "I'll do naething for you till you turn a Christian yourself—ye maun repeat the Lord's Prayer and the Creed or faith I'll let ye grafel (grovel) there as I found ye."

And he had to repeat them.

Will.

There is no chance, no destiny, no fate, Can circumvent or hinder or control The firm resolve of a determined soul. Gifts count for nothing. Will alone is great.

All things give way before it soon or late. What obstacles can stay the mighty force Of the sea seeking river in its course Or cause the ascending orb of day to wait?

Each well born soul must win what it deserves.

Let the fool prate of luck. The fortunate Is he whose earnest purpose never serves. Whose slightest action or inaction swerves The one great aim. Why, even death stands still

And waits an hour sometimes for such a will.

STATE FRUIT MEN DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Movement for Standardization Gets Strong Endorsement

Two hundred representative fruit growers and shippers from all parts of the State met in Sacramento and authorized the Horticultural Commission to name a committee to recommend to the Legislature laws looking to the standardization of deciduous fruits shipped from the State. This action followed the declaration of Manager S. F. B. McKevitt of the California Fruit Distributors that the slump in the Tokay grape market this season was the result of the shipping of immature fruit.

R. D. Stephens fathered a resolution asking the railroads to reduce the rate on fruits from $1.15 per 100 pounds to $1 per 100 pounds, and the minimum carload from 26,000 to 20,000 pounds.

The movement inaugurated by State Horticultural Commissioner Jeffrey for the standardization of all California deciduous fruits was indorsed. It was decided to take up at the next meeting the matter of organizing the Deciduous Fruit Growers' Protective League.

GENERAL NEWS EVENTS

Mrs. Elizabeth Schmeletzck, aged 35 years, who lived near St. Joseph, Mo., died as the result of a bite of a rattlesnake which attacked her in her garden.

Ten thousand heads of New York families, 500 retail dealers and several hundred farmers of the Pennsylvania State Grange have combined in an association to eliminate the middleman and to lower the high cost of living. A small army of canvassers is enrolling hundreds of other families in the movement.

Ford Travilla, a professional diver at Avalon, Catalina island, made what is claimed to be a world's record for diving. Clad only in a common bathing suit Travilla dragged a half-inch rope down sixty-five feet and attached it to an anchor that had been imbedded in the ocean sands for years. He was under water just two minutes. Many persons in glass-bottom boats watched his performance.

B. T. Galloway, chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry, says that the experts of his bureau will make an investigation in California to ascertain the effect of irrigation and intensive farming upon fruit products. Departmental experts have been studying this question in other sections of the country for the last five years, and intend to extend their field of activity from Denver to the Pacific.

According to Federal officials, the arrest of Eugene Ritt, who, they claim, is August Verrier, at Umatilla, Or., brings to a close a pursuit of twenty years' duration. Ritt, who is now in jail at Walla Walla, is held on a charge of fraudulently using a naturalization certificate in Oregon, and of using the same certificate in the State of New York, to gain admission to the United States after having been deported as an undesirable alien.

Co-eds at Willamette University, the leading Methodist institution of learning in the Northwest, are up in arms as the result of an order issued by President Homan forbidding the girl students to "root" at baseball and football games, or to take part in any of the student marches downtown. Heretofore girl students have been prominent in demonstration before the games and at baseball and football games participated in by college teams.

California shippers of dried fruit will profit from the new freight rate on that commodity of $1.10 on boxes and $1.30 on sacks, from San Francisco and other State points to Birmingham, Ala. The former rate on dried fruit to Birmingham was $1.35 on boxed fruit and $1.55 on that in sacks. This made it unusually expensive for shipment of the fruit to points adjacent to the Alabama city, the back haul in proportion to the Birmingham rate being strictly enforced.

Albert Crittenden Lee, a telegraph operator, formerly connected with the San Francisco office of the Southern Pacific Railroad, realizing that he had at the most a few minutes to live, after he had been struck by a New York Central train, used his last remaining strength to write a message of love to his mother, Mrs. A. S. Lee of Labelle, Florida. "Good-by; love to all!" was all he had the strength to write before he lapsed into unconsciousness.

Former Secretary of the Interior R. A. Ballinger has issued the following statement: "Many of my friends urged me to institute an action against Pinchot when he arrived in Seattle on his return from Alaska. But I have definitely determined to enter upon no legal controversy with him. The undiminished confidence of my former chief, who, in the strongest possible language, denounced the accusations of the disappointed factionists who brought them, as falsehoods without a vestige of foundation, should satisfy the demands of the most punctilious."

TOWN SWEEP BY AVALANCHE

Valdez cables say reports from Port Wells show that the earthquake, which last week put the Alaska cable out of commission, was much more severe to the westward than at Valdez. At the new town of Golden the shock was so severe that it started many immense landslides on the surrounding mountains. The inhabitants were so alarmed by the shake and the roar accompanying the avalanches that they took to their boats and spent the whole night afloat. One slide, containing millions of tons of rock, crashed down the mountain side to the beach, destroying a part of Golden.

One peculiar effect of the earthquake was the killing of myriads of fish. Near the entrance of the bay the water was covered with dead fish of all kinds.

BETTER PRICES FOR BEETS

An Advance of Fifty Cents a Ton Has Been Announced.

The American Sugar Beet Company at Oxnard has issued the announcement to sugar beet growers that with the commencement of the coming season the price of beets testing 15 per cent will advance to $5 a ton, which is an increase of 50 cents per ton over the present price.

The announcement also informed the growers that for each additional 1 per cent over 15 the price will be 30 cents additional, and for each 1 per cent under 15, the growers will be paid 25 cents per ton less than $5, with fractions of 1 per cent in proportion.

Joseph Scott of Los Angeles and Judge Frank J. Murasky of San Francisco will be the out-of-town speakers at the annual banquet of the Knights of Columbus to be held at the St. James Hotel, San Jose, October 12th, in celebration of Columbus day.

PRESIDENT TAFT TO START GREAT WORK

Will Break Ground for Panama-Pacific Exposition

Burke Corbet, a well-known attorney of San Francisco, has been specially commissioned by President Chas. C. Moore of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, which is to be held in San Francisco in 1915, to personally tender to President William Howard Taft the invitation in gold to attend the ground-breaking ceremonies to be held in San Francisco on October 14th.

Shreve & Co. prepared the plate. The gold was furnished by the Empire mine of Grass Valley, the oldest in California. It was selected for the honor by Directors William H. Crocker and Rudolph J. Taussig, by reason of the fact that it has been in operation longer than any mine in the State. When the request was made of George W. Starr, manager of the mine, to furnish the gold for the invitation, Starr immediately wired "Will send gold by express today."

The gold plate is encased in a California redwood burl. The invitation reads as follows:

To the
HON. WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT,
President of the United States, is extended a most cordial invitation to break ground for the EXPOSITION OF 1915,
in the City of San Francisco,
October 14, 1911.

TERSE CALIFORNIA NEWS

Sebastopol will soon install an up-to-date fire alarm system.

In a big touring car worth $5000, which was stolen in Portland, a man who afterward gave his name as Paul Thompson ran down and fatally injured Peter Hebert, a well-known farmer of Eugene, Or.

Arthur Hendrickson, a prominent real estate dealer of Santa Rosa, died from hiccoughs. He had been confined to his apartment for several days, physicians attending the man being unable to stop the attack. He was 59 years of age.

While fishing for salmon off San Pedro some fishermen landed one of the largest swordfish ever caught off the California coast, after a battle lasting three hours. The monster measured fifteen feet two inches from tip to tip and weighed 256 pounds.

All available cargo space on the entire fleet of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, sailing from Seattle, has been booked for the next four months and the greatest movement of flour to the Orient in the history of the Pacific Northwest will soon be under way.

Milton Hensley pleaded guilty in the Police Court at San Jose to a charge of petty larceny and was sentenced by Judge Dougherty to 180 days' imprisonment in the County Jail. His offense consisted in the theft of a box of silverware from the home of his mother.

The San Jose Grange discussed politics, including the proposed constitutional amendments to the State Constitution involving the recall of the judiciary, woman suffrage, and the initiative and referendum. The issues in each were carefully canvassed by the farmers before action was taken, but it was decided that all were worthy of endorsement.

The bean crop of Los Angeles, Ventura and Orange counties was damaged to some extent by the rain last week. The value of the crop is estimated at more than $5,000,000. Most of it in Ventura county is already in shelter, but a large tonnage in Los Angeles county still lies in the fields, soaked and partially ruined. The alfalfa crop in surrounding counties also suffered.

The bureau of yards and docks has invited bids for the improvement to the quarters at Mare island, and the sum of $5000 has been set aside for the work. The buildings to be remodeled at the yard were erected some years ago for bachelor quarters, but within the last five years so many of the single officers have married that the quarters have been practically deserted.

Another rich gold strike has been made in the now famous Dobbins district, in Yuba county. It is declared to be the richest discovery made in that county for years, and was entirely accidental. The ledge was discovered upon the property of Joseph Rose, a well-known Portuguese rancher. A quantity of the ore was shipped to the Selby Smelting Works, and returns were $15,000 per ton.

The California Fruit Distributors have been notified that the Southern Pacific has refused to grant the proposed reduction in freight rates on grapes to Eastern markets. A reduction from $1.15 to $1 had been asked, and was, it was claimed, agreed to by one road contingent on the other roads being agreeable. The request was made because of the demoralized condition of the market for grapes.

With the purchase of the Chris Jensen property at Oakland and Peralta avenues, Oakland, the Oakland, San Francisco and San Jose Railway, commonly known as the Key Route, secured the last link in its right of way between Oakland and San Jose. Within two weeks, it is understood, active construction work on the new line will commence, as necessary surveys have been completed and materials ordered.

The City Council of Los Angeles proposes to issue $6,000,000 in bonds for the purchase of the Pacific Light and Power Company, the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation and the Southern California Edison Co., whose combined distributing systems are valued at $3,500,000 by the companies. In case the companies refuse to sell it is proposed that the city lay its own conduits and parallel those of the three companies.

G. W. Harney, secretary of the Marysville Chamber of Commerce, has plans to make October 13th, the day when President Taft will stop at Marysville, a day to be remembered. The chief feature of the occasion, after the speech of the President, will be a free-for-all marrying festival, where marriage licenses will be supplied free of charge, as well as ministers, and prizes will be offered for the oldest, the youngest, the handsomest, the tallest and the shortest couples agreeing to wed on this day.

HILL HAS DESIGNS ON CALIFORNIA

When James J. Hill drove the golden spike at Bend, Ore., Thursday, he did not want to convey the impression that railroad building will stop at that point.

"Just because we drive a golden spike does not mean that a railroad is complete. A railroad is never completed until it reaches its ultimate point," emphatically asserted the railroad president.

Just what application of "ultimate point" he means to make in the case of the Oregon Trunk, the construction of which to Bend was celebrated on Thursday, Hill does not state definitely, but his statement has revived interest in the report that Hill will build into California.

"It is not natural," Hill continued, "that we should go up the Deschutes canyon, through a country over which a bird can hardly fly, and cease our work there."

It is generally believed the line will be pushed southward from Bend, probably connecting with the Pacific and Eastern, now operating out of Medford.

The directors of the Clear Lake Railroad have authorized the construction of nine miles of roadbed four miles out of Hopland and five miles south and west from Lakeport. The company is capitalized at $500,000 to build from Hopland to Lakeport, a distance of twenty-four miles, with branches through Kelseyville and Upper Lake.

George Hancock, matchmaker of the Pacific Athletic Club, says that a twenty-round battle between Sam Langford and Joe Jeannette has been arranged for the Vernon arena, October 28th.

WILEY IN COMMAND OF PURE FOOD BOARD

His Opponents are Permitted to Retire From Commission

In a sudden succession of orders, an initial move in the reorganization of the Department of Agriculture, Solicitor George P. McCabe was retired from the pure food and drug board; Associate Chemist F. L. Dunlap, closely identified with McCabe, was allowed leave of absence until the President's return to Washington, and Chemist Harvey B. Wiley was left in supreme command of the board.

succeed McCabe. These changes were deemed inevitable in view of the antagonism which was disclosed before a Congressional committee last summer, and in view of Dr. Wiley's exoneration by President Taft, after Attorney-General Wickersham, with views aligned with those of Secretary Wilson and Solicitor McCabe, had written his dismissal.

The pure food and drug board is the agency that passes upon many important cases arising under the enforcement of the pure food law. Dr. Wiley, on the one hand, and Solicitor McCabe and Dr. Dunlap on the other, were members of the board.

Dr. Wiley declared that he was usually outvoted and made several sensational statements in the investigation of the controversy. Smarting under the frequent overruling of his views wherein he held certain food products deleterious to health, he told a Congressional committee that he regarded his assistant, Dr. Dunlap, as his superior officer.

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

The open season on wild ducks, ibis and other shore birds in State game districts Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 5 will begin Sunday, October 15th. The season for valley and desert quail will open on the same date in each of the six State game districts.

Sam McVey of California defeated Jack Lester of Seattle, Wash., on points in a twenty-round match for the heavyweight championship of Australasia. Seventeen thousand persons gathered in the stadium at Sydney to witness the contest. McVey, who was the heavier, outpointed Lester throughout, and never extended himself.

Billy Delaney, the veteran trainer and manager, has returned to his Oakland home, and will spend the next few months in arranging his "Memoirs of the Ring." Delaney has disposed of his work to a syndicate which expects to publish the various stories in serial form, probably, retelling the same to the different newspapers of the country.

The phenomenal falling off of the racing game owing to adverse legislation in the past two years is shown by the record of winning stallions. The cutting out of the rich stake events has played havoc with breeders that owned well-bred stallions. It is safe to assert that the earning capacity of a stallion is about 25 per cent of what it was two years ago. At the present time, Star Shoot leads and forty of his progeny have won $30,000, which is less than one stake winner would frequently land in one event, such as in the Futurity or Junior championship.

Captain Dillon, the leader of the Los Angeles Baseball Club, says more small leagues should be organized throughout the State so that budding ballplayers would have more of an opportunity to demonstrate their ability and keep up practice at the national pastime. There is no State in the Union where baseball has a longer and better run than in California, where the game can be played mostly the whole year around, owing to the moderate climate conditions that prevail. California has produced more than her quota of star ballplayers and there is no reason why she should not be able to keep up her good showing in this respect. Leagues organized in the different large cities of the Coast will be an incentive for the coming players to hustle and show their ability, and some day be in a profession that is honorable in every respect, healthful to mind and body, and a splendid medium to gather the coin of the realm.

Close co-operation between the people living near national forests and the forest rangers, and thorough preparation for emergencies are the chief causes assigned by Henry S. Graves, Chief Forester of the Government, for the small loss in forest fires this year. Graves has just returned from a tour embracing several of the Western for-

ITALY'S FLAG NOW FLIES OVER TRIPOLI

Fleet Anchors in Harbor After Forts are Demolished

The Italian flag floats over Sultana fort at Tripoli, which is occupied by landing parties. Part of the fleet is anchored in the harbor, and the other warships lie a short distance from the dismantled fortifications.

Before commencing the bombardment of Tripoli the Italian squadron removed all mines and made a careful revision of the hydrographic chart to insure safety to the coming transports.

The Italian commander endeavored to avoid damaging private dwellings, but some of them were destroyed and the Governor's palace and the three forts at the entrance of the port are in ruins. The consulates and churches have not been damaged.

An interesting report is current from Constantinople that while Germany favors the adoption of the Italian ultimatum as the basis of peace negotiations, Great Britain proposes that Tripoli shall become a privileged tributary Turkish vilayet undergoing Turkish-Italian administrations, thus retaining the suzerainty of the Sultan.

In the first bombardment of Tripoli on Tuesday afternoon the fort overlooking the lazaretto and another above the Christian cemetery were completely dismantled.

All the attempts by the Turkish Consul at Malta to charter a British ship to proceed to Tripoli with food have completely failed, as no one will risk this difficult enterprise on account of the surveillance exercised by the Italian squadron.

It is said that the squadron commanded by the Duke of the Abruzzi has sunk two more Turkish torpedo boats in the Adriatic and that another has been sunk south of Sicily.

One hundred saloons in Utah have gone out of business. This is the result of the local option elections held under the provisions of the law passed by the last Legislature. The saloons are mostly in rural districts and small agricultural towns.

It Proved the Truth of the Lady's Statement

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

"Of course women can't help being inquisitive," said Mr. Pedrie loftily. "I always make allowances, Phoebe, for woman's greatest failing."

"And what is man's greatest failing, or has he so many it's hard to select the largest?" demanded Mrs. Pedrie, with spirit. "Talk about curiosity. Why, Phineas Pedrie, I've seen just as many curious men as you have women—so there!"

"Pshaw, Phoebe! You cannot name one case where a man has displayed more than ordinary interest in affairs which were not his own." And Mr. Pedrie folded his newspaper and challenged his wife with raised brows.

Apparently Mrs. Pedrie could not give the desired illustration, for she retired behind the pages of a book with an expression of displeasure on her pretty countenance. Mr. Pedrie napped in his Turkish rocker more or less musically, and after awhile his wife fell to watching him closely. All at once a bright smile chased away the displeasure from her face, and she softly arose and left the room.

At the end of an hour Mr. Pedrie stretched himself luxuriously, yawned sleepily, and, seeing his wife reading on the opposite side of the table, he sank into somnolence once more. The striking of the hall clock awoke him to a realization that it was midnight and he was alone. Phoebe had evidently gone to bed, as was often her custom, and left him to come to bed when he was quite ready.

He felt singularly wide awake. The house was very quiet, and save for the occasional rattle of a distant electric car the street was still. It was just the time for another dip into that scientific magazine while he smoked a cigar. He reached for his cigar case and looked for the magazine. His glance fell upon a handsome box which stood on the table near Phoebe's chair. He had never seen the box before, and his interest was aroused. He went around the table and examined it. It was made of polished rosewood, with corners and hinges of old brass. It was tightly locked, and there was no key. He lifted the box and found it heavy.

He stood looking down at it with a baffled expression on his good natured countenance. He wondered why Phoebe should have left the box there, and at this instant there was a rustling on the stairs, and Phoebe came rushing in, garbed in dressing gown and slippers and with her heavy braids swinging to and fro. She seemed to take in the situation at a glance—the proximity of her husband to the rosewood box—for with a little frightened gasp she darted forward, took the box from his hands and left the room without so much as a word of explanation.

Phineas Pedrie stood rooted to the spot with consternation. Was Phoebe insane, or was she walking in her sleep? What was there about the rosewood box that he, her husband, might not see? What?

Mr. Pedrie stalked slowly up the stairs to find Phoebe sleeping sweetly and the rosewood box nowhere in sight.

"What has she done with it?" he muttered anxiously as he stepped softly to and fro so as not to awaken her.

Fifteen minutes later Mr. Pedrie was still searching for the rosewood box. He had explored all the closets in the house and the spare room and was creaking downstairs in the belief that his wife had concealed the box in the hall before she ascended to her room when her voice smote on his ear.

"Phineas, where are you?" she called sleepily.

"I'm coming, dear," he assured her, making his voice as small as possible, as if it might come from the library, where she had left him.

"It must be midnight, Phin. Are you never coming? This light keeps me awake."

"I'll put it out, Phoebe," and Mr. Pedrie creaked up the stairs again and snapped off the bulb. "I've lost my match case, and I'm looking for it. I'll just take a run downstairs once more," he explained as he left the room.

Carefully, painstakingly, Mr. Pedrie searched the lower floor of the house for the rosewood box which his wife had so artfully concealed from him. What did it contain? Did his wife possess a secret which he did not share?

Once more Mr. Pedrie mounted the stairs, this time in a spirit of just indignation. Before he slept that morning he would wrest this secret from his unhappy wife. He stalked into the bedroom without any attempt at quietness.

"Oh, Phin," complained Phoebe, "do stop squeaking around and go to bed! You've waked me up three or four times with your prowling, and you know I want to get up early so as to go into town on your train."

"Going to town, are you?" asked Phineas suspiciously.

"Of course I am! You know, I want to do some shopping."

Phineas was undressing sulkily before his own chiffonier, and he saw in the mirror the reflection of Phoebe's face. She was either crying or laughing, and he decided that she was crying.

"I haven't said you couldn't go, have I?" he asked.

"Oh, no—that wouldn't make any difference," choked Phoebe.

"Wouldn't make any difference?" exploded Phineas, whirling around. "Why wouldn't it make any difference, I'd like to know, madam? Am I master in my own house?"

"You can answer that question best, dear," said Phoebe meekly, mopping her eyes with the sheet.

"Well, then, I am master in my own house," declared Phineas Pedrie grandly. "When I say you shall go to New York I don't go back on my word even though I strongly disapprove of your going."

"Because—er—because," stated Phineas sharply.

"Phineas?" said Mrs. Pedrie in a strangled voice.

"Well?"

"That's a woman's reason, you know."

"What's a woman's reason? Oh, I see! My dear, don't try to be funny after midnight. One doesn't feel much in the mood for that sort of thing." Mr. Pedrie wrenched his collar off and flung it across the room. He sent his vest after the collar and then realized that the icy feeling down his spine was caused by the slipping of a collar button down his neck. He swore softly and lowered his head in the vain hope that the offending collar button would slide out again.

It did not, but his position was the means of his discovering the rosewood box.

He caught a glimpse of its polished surface and brass ornaments under his chiffonier. He was sure he had searched there before, but apparently he had failed to locate it. He pulled it out and tucked it under his arm, throwing his bathrobe over it to conceal it.

"Where are you going now, Phin?" asked Phoebe curiously.

Mr. Pedrie paused on the threshold and looked with a superior smile at his wife. "I'm going downstairs to the library," he said.

He went downstairs again with the rosewood box tucked under his arm. He did not stop in the library. Instead he went to the kitchen, where he found the tool chest and extracted a hammer and chisel and a bunch of old keys of all shapes and sizes.

In the glare of the electric light he studied the rosewood box. There was the key-hole, but no key. He tried all the spare keys, and not one fitted the lock. The hinges were beautifully set in the box, and he was loath to wrench them off, yet the box must be opened. He must discover what secret his wife was keeping from him.

He inserted the chisel under the lid and pried gently. The lock strained, but held. He bore down harder, and at last, with a splinter of wood around the inside of the lock, the cover flew up and knocked his eyeglasses spinning across the room, where they shattered against the range.

"And bang goes $15!" ejaculated Mr. Pedrie, staring hopelessly at the glittering fragments of his eyeglasses.

"What is the matter, Phineas?" asked his wife from the doorway, and then as her gaze fell on the open box in his hand she added: "What are you doing with my box, Phin? Are you out of your mind?"

Mr. Pedrie glared savagely at her. "Woman," he said accusingly, "you have a secret from me. I must know the worst, Phoebe Pedrie. Wait! Do not speak! You know I will be quite just with you."

He held the box to the light and fumbled in it. He brought up a tangled mass of white thread, a measure of lace and an ivory bobbin. "What is this?" he stammered.

"My tatting," choked Mrs. Pedrie.

"And this?" Mr. Pedrie covered his chagrin by fishing up the one other article in the box—a bundle of letters tied about with a blue ribbon. Aha!

"Your love letters to me, dear," said his wife sweetly. And on examination so they proved to be.

Mr. Pedrie sat and stared speechlessly from the empty box to his shattered glasses, thence to the tatting and the harmless babble of his own love letters. He did not look at his wife.

"Phineas," she said after awhile, "do you still maintain that man is not possessed of his full share of curiosity?"

Mr. Pedrie looked sheepishly at her, threw up his hands and dove into his trousers pocket for his wallet. This he tossed across the kitchen table to his wife.

"Help yourself, Phoebe," he said, with a feeble smile. "It's on me!"

WEST COAST MAGAZINE

The striking features of The West Coast Magazine for October are two able articles on that burning question of the day—Woman's Suffrage. The first of these is Clifford Howard's reply to the article of Hon. George S. Patton, which appeared in the September number of The West Coast Magazine. Mr. Howard's article bears the title "Why Women Should Be Given the Vote" and he handles his subject in an able and fascinating way. Mr. Patton, having expounded his theories of "Why Women Should Not Vote" in the September number, supplements that brilliant article with another equally vital one in answer to the arguments of Howard. These articles, pro and con, appearing in the same number, throw the subject with all its salient points into bright relief, so that the public may grasp and understand the significance of the important movement now being agitated. The first part of the Magazine is devoted to a beautiful description of the "San Diego Pageant" by John S. McGroarty, who never pens more effective words than when handling a theme of this kind. This article is richly illustrated with excellent pictures.

"The Future of Southern California," an intensely practical article by J. A. Graves should be of vital interest to every business man. It is a prophecy of a great future by a very conservative and able banker.

Mrs. Elizabeth Baker Bohen's department is of unusual interest, being devoted to consideration of "The Mother and the Child."

A number of charming stories by such Western writers as Charles Alma Byers, Marguerite V. Holcomb, Edwin Schallert and Emily B. DuBois, are a feature of the present number. Also there is considerable verse, and the departments contain many interesting items.

PROCEEDINGS OF SUPERVISORS

The following liquor dealers of the first township whose applications were presented in September were granted licenses: Mary A. Cody, San Bruno; John Mangini, Millbrae; Mrs. J. J. McCarthy, Millbrae; W. T. Ford, San Bruno; John J. Welch, Millbrae.

Supervisor Casey reported that he had conferred with the United Railroad officials regarding a dangerous turn in the Mission road near the Millett place in the first township as a result of which the company had agreed to buy the necessary land and widen the road.

The report was accepted on motion of Supervisor Brown, seconded by Supervisor McEvoy and Supervisor Casey was directed to secure a deed from the railroad company transferring the land to the county.

A communication was received from the Carpenters and Joiners' union of San Bruno protesting against the action of the United Railroads in refusing transportation to school children at half price.

The protest was accepted and referred to the district attorney.

Bids for the South San Francisco school bonds amounting to $14,000 and bearing 5 per cent interest were received as follows:

J. H. Adams—Par and accrued interest and premium of $251.

N. W. Halsey—Par and accrued interest and premium of $11.50.

It was the opinion of the board that the price offered by the highest bidder was unreasonably low, and on motion of Supervisor Francis, seconded by Supervisor Blackburn, it was ordered that the sale of the bonds be postponed until the next meeting and in the meantime the clerk is to communicate with the South San Francisco school trustees and ascertain if the bid is acceptable.

PLANNING FOR PENINSULA HIGHWAY

A movement to bring about the improvement of the main road between San Francisco and San Jose was launched last Tuesday when representative delegates from the three Peninsula counties of San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Clara gathered in San Mateo and drafted resolutions to the state highway commission.

A luncheon is to be given by the joint committee to the supervisors of the three counties and the members of the state commission, at which time the public officials will be acquainted with the traffic needs of the Peninsula.

The meeting was held in the office of Leslie E. Burks, secretary and attorney for the Automobile club of California, and was presided over by M. H. de Young, president of that organization. Those present included W. S. Clayton, and F. P. Frost of Santa Clara county. H. C. Tuchsien, G. J. McGregor, W. J. Martin, W. H. Brown, J. M. Francis and James T. Casey of San Mateo county and E. L. Hoag, M. H. de Young, Leslie E. Burks and R. A. Crothers of San Francisco.

The joint committee will try to induce the state highway commission to make its first expenditure from the $18,000,000 bond issue voted last fall on the improvement of El Camino real between San Jose and San Francisco, or for the construction of an entirely new road between these cities.

Several speakers showed that by the time the Panama-Pacific international exposition opens in 1915 the road down the Peninsula will be the main traffic artery in the state.

By actual count made recently during two days by one of the members of the committee, 1652 automobiles passed from San Francisco county into San Mateo county, and in addition there were 2255 other vehicles. All of these traveled over the county road.

The highway desired by the committee would be 80 feet wide, with macadam on both sides of an inner strip 25 feet wide, composed of bitumen on a foundation of concrete. Automobiles and motor vehicles could use the inner road, giving a wide passage on each side for north and south bound traffic of other kinds.

The resolutions adopted are directed to the boards of supervisors in the different counties urging them to approve and then forward the documents to the state highway commission. In this way the requests will be uniform and the highway commission can proceed on the recommendations of the three counties acting jointly.

No date was set for the luncheon, but one will be arranged for the near future.

THE CALIFORNIA DEVELOPMENT BOARD

This bulletin is based on special reports by reliable authorities in various counties covering nearly every section of the State.

From the standpoint of the grower, the current year has been in many respects a record year. The yields of cereal crops have been good and the market returns good. Barley especially gave a large yield of exceptionally good quality and prices have been far beyond expectation.

Hay and alfalfa have given good returns and pasturage has held up well.

Sugar beets are giving a better yield than usual on a larger acreage and the sugar content is running high.

The hop crop will be larger than last year and the new crop is bringing prices double and three times as high as in normal years.

Potatoes, onions and beans and other field vegetables are making good returns.

The cotton crop of Imperial county is coming above estimates and the quality is fine.

The canning of fruits and vegetables has been active in the season for the different kinds and will be until the crops are taken care of.

On the whole the year has been very satisfactory to the farmer and fruit grower as increased acreage and new planting of trees for next year tend to show.

Land scales for colonization are continuing. Some of the enterprises are on a large scale and contemplate large expenditures.

The influx of colonists continues and the record for the season is expected to surpass all previous ones.

Permanent improvements, public, corporate and private, are projected or going on in every quarter.

WOMEN WHO NEED THE BALLOT MOST

The women who need the ballot most are the women who work for wages—teachers, poor mothers who do washing and scrubbing, cannery and factory women employees, the girls in department stores. These women need the ballot for their own protection just as the men in the corresponding class need the ballot for theirs. The mother, especially the city mother, needs the ballot that she may see that the streets are made clean physically and morally for her children, that the schools are healthy and that the teaching is good, that milk and water are pure. The woman of property who pays large taxes needs the ballot that she may have some say as to how her taxes are to be spent and yet she needs the ballot less, perhaps, than any of the others mentioned, for property in itself is power.
